Agile Milcoms and Haivision Partner to Provide Cost-Effective ISR Communication Solutions to the Warfighter

October 25, 2012 - Morgan Hill, California – Today, Agile Milcoms, an ACS company providing Satcom Digital Media and ISR systems to federal, military, intelligence and security agencies, announced a reseller partnership with Haivision, a leading manufacturer of high performance digital media systems.

The ability to supply accurate and timely ISR (Intelligence, Surveillance & Reconnaissance) information is essential in today's combat environment. Agile Milcoms is experienced in providing communication solutions to Command Centers and the Warfighter-on-the-move.

"We are excited about the synergies that both Haivision and Agile Milcoms have collectively," said Dan Makinster, President, ACS. "Haivision excels in the FMV and ISR sectors. When combined with Agile Milcoms's experience in system design and integration for the government and commercial sectors, we believe this will form a strong partnership to assist in these sectors."

"Agile Milcoms's deep experience with expeditionary communications on the move will help Haivision's US Federal team deliver a proven end-to-end solution to our ISR customers in the DoD and first-responder community," said Andy Vaughan, Vice-President US Federal Sales.
